Continuously seeking out new investments

Partners Group has built an investment engine that generates a steady stream of opportunities for inclusion in our evergreen funds. We don't just buy and hold investments. Instead, we regularly look for opportunities to exit investments and realize attractive returns for our investors.

Healthy turnover, combined with new inflows, provides us the capital to seize fresh opportunities as we uncover them. It also helps us maintain an optimal balance between mature and younger investments in our funds. This disciplined approach is the cornerstone of our evergreen portfolio construction process – and ensures that our investors' money always stays invested.

to our opportunity set.

We believe every investor is entitled to a proportional share of Partners Group investments. That's why we make our investments available through a fair allocation policy, with pro-rata distribution across pools of capital.

This means individual investors are invested side-by-side with our other clients, including institutional investors, pensions, and sovereign wealth funds.

Most investors are under-allocated to private markets

We believe most investors can benefit from the attractive return profile and diversification benefits provided by exposure to private markets. These investments can work in harmony with traditional public equity and public fixed income to deliver better outcomes, regardless of the investor's goals.
